IN MEMORIAM

Howard Alexander Smith, one of the eminent Princetonians of this century, whose death at age 86 saddened the entire Princeton community and stirred memories of a career which have made him an adornment of public life in his state and country. As local, New Jersey and national officials joined the outpouring of Town and Gown Monday afternoon in the University Chapel to pay their final respects, dozens upon dozens of tributes from all parts of the world — and from persons in all walks of life — continued to flood into the quiet Alexander Street home he loved so well.

Possibly better than any modern-day statesman this outspoken native of New York City, who constantly besought those in politics to "be absolutely honest and scrupulously fair," personified Woodrow Wilson's conception of "Princeton in the Nation's Service." In the twilight of his career Senator Smith enjoyed recalling that as a member of the Princeton Class of 1901 he had taken every course taught by President Wilson — "the greatest teacher I ever had." Of more significance, Wilson, the Senator once said, "influenced my political thinking more than any one else. To him I trace my first inclination to enter public life and my concept of public service."

In the Wilson tradition Senator Smith was one of the early internationalists and at a time when there were few such in the Republican Party helped the United States enter global affairs following World War II. As early as 1944, in campaigning for the U.S. Senate for the first time, he emphasized: "We cannot safely ignore the responsibilities of leadership that will be ours; nor can we morally ignore the great obligations to humanity that will be thrust upon us." This strong conviction was evidenced year after year as he helped pass the Marshall Plan, hammered out aid for Turkey and Greece, and wholeheartedly supported President Eisenhower's foreign policy while often disagreeing with the Administration in domestic matters.

Senator Smith was such a towering figure in Washington in the 1950's that it is often forgotten that he didn't enter the political arena until he was 54 and had gained recognition as a brilliant lawyer, educator and businessman. Fifteen years in Colorado, where he had moved for reasons of health following a bout with tuberculosis, were followed by some 13 years as a senior officer of Princeton University where he not only played a key role in shaping basic University policies but also, as a Lecturer in International Affairs, substituted independent study for texthook assignments and "bucked the tide of isolationism then prevalent in the country."

His lifelong friendship with President Hoover, with whom he differed sharply on foreign policy, was one of the avenues that led him into politics. In 1934 he was given the thankless task of serving as Treasurer of the New Jersey State Republican Committee. He miraculously erased debts created by the Roosevelt landslides of the New Deal and was elected State Chairman in 1941. Three years later, with the death of Republican W. Warren Barbour, he was the G.O.P.'s logical candidate for the Senate, and, despite a swirling Democratic tide, was elevated to his first elective office, a post he was to endow with distinction and dedication until his retirement in 1959.

Of the hundreds of tributes which have come to his widow and family none "caught" the man and his spirit more effectively than this message from a career Foreign Service Officer: "Rare indeed is a man in whom there are combined good will, knowledge, comprehension, integrity, common sense and courage. We think of him as still on course but beyond the horizon of our seeing and hearing."

VOTE ON TUESDAY

Quiet Election Expected. The pay raise referendum for Princeton Township police has produced the only ripple in a calm November for the Princeton voter.

Long-range questions of middle income housing, zoning and traffic have been raised and discussed in both Borough and Township as they probably will be in many another election year to come, but generally speaking, no one issue has roused the community to fire and spark.

All voters, Borough and Township and across the state, will have two public questions to vote on next Tuesday. The first is the proposal to reapportion the state legislature, the second is to allow night horse-racing.

And in Princeton Township . . .

Salary Raise Sought. The salary referendum, if passed, will give Township police a $925 raise in 1967 and another $925 raise in 1968, for a total of $1,850 over two years. It would apply to all ranks equally: patrolman to chief.

Here is the proposal: patrolmen, who now operate within a salary of $5,950 to $7,250, would be raised to a $7,800-$9,100 range by 1968.

Sergeants would go from $7,950 to $9,800 over the two-year period; lieutenant from $8,700 to $10,550 in the course of two years, and the chief from $10,300 to $12,130.

Township police have, in addition to salary raises, a $250 "longevity" raise after they have served on the force for ten years. At the end of 15 years, they receive another $250, and so on, with $250 more after each five years.

This has never been written into formal ordinance and police state that it was, in fact, jeopardized in 1964 during salary negotiations with Township Committee.

Police decided to take their salary problems to the public, according to Patrolman Michael Kopliner, when Township Committee reportedly told police last winter that the 1966 raise of $250 was not open to further discussion.

Police raises in past years have averaged about $240 and police feel that this is not enough to support them and their families in a community like Princeton Township where modestly-priced homes are scarce, apartments almost nonexistent and taxes high.

Township police were required to live within the Township until an ordinance, passed in April, 1965, allowed them to live within a five-mile radius. Patrolman Kopliner points out that this requirement has presented police with a real hardship. Most policemen either moonlight at other jobs, have working wives, or both.

The pay raise is supported by the, two Democratic candidates for Township Committee —George Goldsmith and Geraldine Boone. Republican candidates David Thompson and John Wallace have not commented publicly upon the referendum.

TOWN TOPICS believes that the police are justified in taking their salary problems to the voters. The question of precedent is a real one, but it has two sides: police in 13 other New Jersey communities have asked for raises by referendum. It is not likely that any other group of municipal employees could rouse enough public sympathy to obtain the necessary signatures on a petition.

If the referendum is defeated, many Township policemen may leave the force to find better jobs elsewhere. This would be most unfortunate. It would cost the community a dedicated and experienced group of men who are badly needed in times like these, when burglaries are on the rise, juvenile problems need careful attention, and the Princeton community is growing from a small town to a young city.

Policing is no longer a matter of swinging a stick on a beat. Police need to know fine points of law, to become more understanding and sophisticated about psychology, sociology and criminology. Today's cop is a professional in a way his predecessor in 1910 never had to be.

As for cost, the Township administrator has said that the salary raise will cost only $4.98 a year more in taxes for each of the two years, on a $30,000 house, based on the current tax situation.

Town Topics supports the police, and recommends to Township voters a "yes" vote.

Legislature. Reapportionment for the state legislature was hammered out by the bipartisan 63 each, Republicans and Democrats) constitutional convention that studied the problem for three months.

Under the new apportionment, the legislature would have a 40-member Senate elected from 15 Senate districts and an 80-member Assembly elected from districts determined by the Senate districts.

For example, if a Senate district has one Senator, the Assembly district will be the same as the Senate district. If the population is such that a Senate district has more than one Senator, that district would be divided into as many Assembly districts as it has Senators.

Mercer County, which has had one Senator, would have two, and the county would therefore be divided into two Assembly districts, each of which would elect two Assemblymen, giving Mercer County four men in the state Assembly.

At present, Mercer's single Senator represents 266,892 people. Under reapportionment, each of the two Mercer Senators would represent only 133,196 people.

If the referendum is approved, Assembly boundary lines will be drawn by a bipartisan apportionment commission, which must follow the formula for establishing Assembly districts that was outlined by the Constitutional Convention.

What the overall reapportionment proposal means is that counties with larger populations will get more Senators and counties with smaller populations will keep the same number of Senators they now have.

The State Supreme Court has set a deadline of November, 1967, for establishing a reapportioned legislature. If the referendum is defeated, the State Supreme Court would either work out another temporary plan for the 1967 election, or ask the Legislature to do so. If the Legislature were required to make the plan, partisan politics would unquestionably enter the picture.

Republican U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case and his Democratic opponent, Warren W. Wilentz, have both endorsed the referendum and so have the state chairmen of both parties.

The state League of Women Voters opposes the plan, chiefly because the League believes that hinging the Assembly to the Senate automatically repeats any imbalance in one House in the other.

In addition, the League objects to the idea of following county lines, believing that greater flexibility and fairer representation could be achieved if county lines could be crossed, allowing communities with common interests to be represented together.

After each Federal census a bi-partisan commission would establish future apportionment, and the League believes that a bi-partisan group would give the voter no way of expressing disapproval.

Town Topics supports the reapportionment proposal as fair and workable, if not flawless, and certainly preferable to a possible alternative: the drafting of a plan by the Legislature.

Horse Racing. The proposal to allow night racing and parimutuel betting is opposed by the New Jersey Council of Churches. Town Topics suggests support of the referendum as a means for increasing state tax revenues. If racing and betting are legal by day, they hardly seem less so after sundown.

Who Will Win? In the race for public office, United States Senator Clifford P. Case, Republican, is a seemingly sure winner over his Democratic opponent, Warren Wilentz.

Princeton will watch with keen interest the Congressional contest, in which Republican Ralph Chandler of 200 Cherry Valley Road hopes to capture the House of Representatives seat held by Democrat Frank Thompson Jr. Mr. Thompson, a hard man to beat even in Republican Princeton, is the probable winner.

Borough: Charles Cornforth and Fred M. Bleicher, Republican candidates for Council, repeat in their final campaign resume their proposal for a Municipal (Borough-Township) Youth Guidance Council and their suggestion that businessmen who want to update their buildings be given a break on parking requirements in return for a financial contribution to a parking-lot fund.

Robert Hendry and Leonard Berry, Democratic candidates for Council, urge construction of parking garages with apartments above them and charge the Borough with "lack of a sound Master Plan that has led to chaotic zoning laws which stifle growth."

At the League of Women Voters candidates meeting Wednesday, both Mr. Cornforth and Dr. Berry admitted that Republican and Democratic aims were very similar.

Township: Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith, Democratic candidates for Committee, regard low-middle income housing as the major issue. In their final statement, they suggest that fewer than 250 apartment units would meet the needs of teachers, municipal employees and young people who wish to live in the Township.

David Thompson and John Wallace, Republican candidates, continue to urge development of the office-research zone as a possible producer of $100,000 more in tax revenues, and they support formation of a Regional Planning Board between Princeton and the surrounding communities. They point to the drop (from $1.15 to $1.14) in the municipal tax rate in the last five years, as a Republican achievement.

At the League meeting, Mrs. Boone and Mr. Goldsmith agreed that the Township should have a diversified population. Mr. Thompson stated "I don't want this Statue of Liberty in Princeton" and Mr. Wallace added, "Princeton Township is not a balanced community and should not become one. I don't see the point of providing housing for anybody and everybody."

APPROVAL? NOT YET

For Nursing Home. The Borough Planning Board rejected Tuesday night the parking proposal of Simon Fried, who wants to operate a nursing home in the old Quarry Street School building, and now Mr. Fried must lay out his parking spaces all over again and return to the Planning Board next month.

The Zoning Board had sent him informally to the Planning Board after telling him he had to provide 56 parking spaces at the rear of the school building. Mr. Fried provided the 56 spaces all right, but they measure only 160 square feet per stall instead of the required 200.

The Zoning Board had also told Mr. Fried he had to buy the adjoining Bamman property, and he has an option to do so. However, he didn't use any Bamman land for his 56 lots. Just what he plans to do with the Bamman property he isn't saying publicly, although his attorney, Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., told the Planning Board his client would be happy to discuss his ideas privately with the Board.

EVERYTHING IS QUIET

Among Princeton Teenagers. Princeton area teenagers made news this week by being quiet.

In contrast to recent weeks, in which their actions on Nassau Street and friction with University students were filling the newspapers and causing police and University officials to try to recall when the problem had been more serious, this past weekend was without incident.

To head off any possible trouble over the Halloween weekend, the police and university had extra men on duty patrolling Nassau Street. The result: a weekend devoid of any serious vandalism or fights.

In past weeks, church-held dances have fostered unrest and tension. Again, in sharp contrast, a teenage dance was held last weekend at Trinity Church, and although it was well attended there were no incidents. In fact, the teenagers raised a considerable sum of money for a worthwhile cause —see box, page 20.

The large majority of Princeton's teens have been maintaining that their reputation is being blackened by a few chronic troublemakers. Last week, apparently all of them proved how well mannered they can be.

For a report on reactions to the teen-age problem from the pulpit, see News of the Churches, page 39.

HALLOWEEN "NORMAL"

Says Chief McCrohan. "We had what I would say was a normal Halloween."

This was the way Chief Peter J. McCrohan described the always potentially dangerous weekend at his news conference on Tuesday. "The kids in general behaved very well," he added.

"We had some incidents, of course, but no serious vandalism. There was very little painting compared to some years." He ended by saying, "We've had a lot worse."

Most pervasive were leaf fires — police received 17 calls on Sunday alone reporting such fires. "This is nothing new; it's been going on since leaves have been on trees. How long is that?" commented McCrohan. "Kids just can't seem to resist dropping a match into a pile of leaves."

On Sunday evening there were these pranks: a bag of soap tossed through a rear storm window at 60 Harriet Drive; a small pump ripped from its mooring at the construction site of the housing project for the elderly on Harrison Street; houses at 44 Princeton Avenue and 66 Wiggins Street bombarded with eggs; a beer bottle hurled through a front window at 48 John Street; garbage cans knocked over on Park Place; a thrown pumpkin splattered on the front porch at 37 S. Stanworth. A Patton Avenue car received the egg treatment and two groups of boys with paint spray cans were apprehended in the Princeton Hospital parking yard. Police confiscated the cans in both cases.

On Monday evening: a broken window at 17 Lytle Street; firecrackers on the corner of Stockton and Library; a bottle through a window at 112 Witherspoon Street, a plastic rope stretched across Mercer Street which snapped a car antenne (noticed by Fred Goldsborough of 96 Einstein Drive and taken down) and several more leaf fires.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. William Saunders, 12 Berrien Court, told police she had parked her car on John Street and later discovered it had been doused with yellow paint. Fortunately, according to the police, she was able to remove the paint before it hardened. Two juveniles were picked up and turned over to Juvenile Officer Ralph Procaccino, who is investigating.

Township Quiet. Township police reported the "usual things" but nothing serious.

They listed leaf fires, reports of firecrackers, soapings and "perhaps one or two antennas and side view mirrors may have been snapped off."

A VOICE FROM HOME

To Vietnam. "Voice from Home", the new project of the Princeton Red Cross, will offer families a chance to send taped messages to relatives serving in Vietnam.

The 200 families in the area with relatives in Vietnam are invited to record personal messages on seven and-one-half minute tapes. The Red Cross will send the tapes to Vietnam with a photograph of the members of the family. Recipients may keep the tapes, either to replay them or to erase them and record a return message to their families.

There is no charge for the service. Red Cross volunteers will assist the families in operating the recorders and if necessary, in planning the messages. Since a seven and-one-half minute tape will record many words, families are asked to give a careful advance thought to what they will say.

Recordings will be made next Thursday, November 10.

Playing no partisan politics, the Man has forecast a dry day next Tuesday, taking comfort in the fact that he can't help but be partially right because all the liquors stores will be closed anyway. WANT TO ACT?

McCarter Needs YOU. Snowflakes, flowers, icicles, courtiers, and robbers are needed for McCarter's fourth annual Thanksgiving production.

It's "The Snow Queen" this year, which accounts for all the icicles. Michael Leech, McCarter's new Director of Publicity (succeeding John McKenna) has prepared the adaptation of Hans Christian Anderson's fairy tale. It will be given on Friday, November 25, at 1 and 3:30, and on Saturday, November 26, at 11 and 3:30.

Anyone who wants to be a snowflake, courtier, etc. should see Catherine Williams (she's directing) at McCarter this Friday between 4 and 6.

Mr. Leech has written and published many stories and plays for children, and has recently done a series of five children's plays for Plays, Inc. His stage adaptation of "Alice in Wonderland" was acted by a professional company in Toronto at the Royal Ontario Museum Theatre, and ran for nine weeks in 1962-63.

His plays have also been given over Canada's C.B.C., and his weekly FM program, "World of Words" was presented over WCBN-FM in Boston.

KAUFMAN FOR LAUGHS

Lost in Repertory. Hollywood in the '30's will be revived, if that's a good idea, when "Once in a Lifetime" opens at McCarter Theatre on Friday, November 11, at 8:30.

The comedy, by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart (left you out of the headline, Moss; sorry about that) is being directed by Anthony Stimac, who directed "Agamemnon" earlier this fall.

Ken Costigan, Susan Babel, David Mogek and Eve Johnson have leading roles, and the entire McCarter company will be on stage at one time or another in a chaotic series of roles depicting the lunacy of Hollywood at its looniest.

Meantime, "Hamlet" will be given this Thursday and Saturday and finally on Friday, November 18. "A View From the Bridge" will be given this Wednesday, November 2, and this Friday.

IT'S OUR MARY

"Sunshine" Herself. When we left "Little Mary Sunshine" last week, she was baking cookies for Big Jim Warington, the Forest Ranger she loves. Now we find her endangered by mortgage foreclosure on her little Rocky Mountain inn, and the sinister advances of an Indian who has no reservations about Mary.

"Little Mary Sunshine" is a musical spoof of all the Romberg - Kern - Herbert operettas that used to warm the hearth and box-office back in the '10's and 20's.

It will be given by Theatre Intime in Mirrsy Theatre on campus this Friday and Saturday and Monday through Saturday of next week. Curtain time is 8:30. Seats may be reserved by calling 452-3637 between 7 and 9 p.m.

UNDERGROUND

Avant-garde Cinema. Ten examples of experimental and avant-garde cinema will be shown at McCarter Theatre on Monday, November 14, at 8 p.m.

Abstract and impressionistic films will be shown, and examples of college and the so-called "underground" cinema

"Nobody waved Goodbye," the 1965 New York Film Festival hit, will be shown at McCarter next Tuesday at 8. Teen-agers in conflict with middle-class values—that's the theme.

The Canadian film was directed by Don Owen and stars Peter Kastner and Julie Biggs.

Mr. Wiseman played Dr. No in the James Bond film. His Broadway credits include parts in "The Diary of Anne Frank," "King Lear" and "Golden Boy." He also played in the Lincoln Center Repertory Company productions of "Marco's Millions" and "Incident at Vichy."

PLAYHOUSE

Khartoum (now playing) The 317-day siege of Khartoum on the Nile River in 1884-85 by Arabs led by a religious fanatic called the Mahdi and its defense by untrained Sudanese and Egyptians under British General Charles Gordon is a little-known page of history. The film transcribes the record with all the fascination of great fiction.

As General Gordon, Charlton Heston gives the best performance of his career. Gordon died at Khartoum a hero, refusing Gladstone's order to escape. It is a complex person that Heston is asked to enact, a man whose character is a combination of religious mysticism, devotion to duty, affection for the Sudan and its people, and fearless of death. Heston has made Gordon not only credible but sympathetic.

Laurence Olivier as the Mahdi leader of a "holy" war to conquer the Sudan, adds another superb portrayal to his list of screen credits.

The picture is replete with massive bloodcurdling battle sequences, photographed in color in North African deserts and along the banks of the Nile where the city of Khartoum was reconstructed in minute detail.

Ironically, the best scenes in the picture are the two which take dramatic license to distort history. These are face-to-face meetings between Gordon and the Mahdi. Both encounters are extremely re-

BUY AT BAZAAR

Gifts, Decorations. What we like most at the Stuart Country Day School bazaar is that Steak Bar. You can buy boneless USDA Choice sirloin strip steak, frozen, at $2.50 a pound or $22 for a box of ten and what a present to find under the tree, assuming you haven't decided to keep it yourself!

Rare for us, please, with a nice red wine.

But to continue. Also at Stuart's steak bar will be a six-pound wheel of Danish bleu cheese for $6.50 (what a green salad—with six pounds of bleu in the dressing!) and a big family-style can of John Appleby Country Relish. "Big" we said? You bet. It's a SEVEN AND A HALF POUND can, and that's enough relish to take care of your teen-agers for a whole weekend. $4

The Stuart Country Day School Christmas Bazaar will be held on Saturday, December 3, from 10 to 5 at the school on The Great Road. We saw a preview—just enough to put an edge on the appetite. Not all is edible, however. Wait until grandmother sees the ruby velvet shift for a ten-year-old, with its hem band of rich cream lace.

Or the red felt jumper that gets a straight "A" line to match the foot-high green Christmas tree pyramid in the center. This tree has been decorated with gold. sequins and how it will sparkle on Christmas Eve!

Little girls' nightgowns are red flannel with lace, or an impish shocking pink with lace.

For mothers, there will be at-home skirts with beautiful applique-work and blouses to match the applique. Spice homespun, for example, has a winking calico cat in yellows and browns and sea-blue has a prancing sea-horse. A teal skirt has a lime man-in-the-moon crescent. The pinky-beige skirt shows off a roguish upside-down flower. Skirts are $30 and the matching blouses are $10.

When you visit the Bazaar, one of the first things you'll want to see is the table of Christmas decorations. Besides the green felt tree skirts with their white fringe, there is a pinecone wreath with "mistle-toe" and an unusual one with cones and green jumper.

A giant wreath for a giant front door has been made of spruce with festive red metal instruments embedded in the leaves The big bow is red "velvet."

A separate table has been devoted to religious figures, like a fine little stone statue of St. Joseph and a Madonna and Child. These are excellent reproductions of old pieces, modestly priced at around $20.

Author Will Autograph

Jean Shepherd, author and TV personality (or the other way around, whichever you prefer), will be in the University Store on Wednesday, November 16, to autograph copies of his new book.

The book, of course, is "In God We Trust, All Others Pay Cash," and it happens to be for sale in the U-Store's book department.

Mr. Shepherd will be on hand from 4-3:30 only. That evening at 8:30, he will appear in Alexander Hall.

Remember the date: Saturday, December 3, from 10-5.

BARE, BARE, BARE

Ne Hair, Hair, Hair. The most comfortable and effective new hair-removal technique at Artistic Hairdressers, 42 Witherspoon, is quick, simple, painless and completely effective.

It's called the E-Z Estrogen-Zipping Hair Removal System and it utilizes the female hormone, estrogen, to eliminate unwanted hair thoroughly. It has, of course, been thoroughly checked and approved by the Pure Food and Drug Administration and is as safe as it is simple and effective.

With E-Z, Artistic Hairdresser technicians can remove unwanted hair from face, lips, underarms, legs. Because of the hormonal balance involved, this superfluous hair is particularly exasperating to teen-age girls and middle-aged women, but women of any age are often plagued by the problem.

At Artistic, the trained technician covers the area where hair is to be removed with a warm, honey-like cosmetic. Then she covers the area with a muslin cloth and presses the cosmetic gently into the skin. The chemical temporarily expands the hair follicles and makes the zipping procedure easy and painless. When the cloth is quickly zipped off, the loosened hair is painlessly removed.

After this first treatment, you use a neutralizer and an estrogen oil on the area each night. One month later, you return to Artistic for a second treatment. You will have noticed already that hair which has grown back is softer, less coarse.

Depending on your particular hair problem, you will need about half a dozen treatments to effect a complete removal job. It is permanent removal—permanent—of all unwanted hair. A soft, invisible "down" of course, will remain: that's only healthy!

All the compounds used in the treatment are vegetable compounds and are non-allergenic, so don't worry if you have senstive skin.

Artistic's prices are $10 for upper lips, $10 for eyebrow shaping, $15 for both underarms, $15 for both upper and lower arms. Upper legs are $30 and lower legs are $30.

Call the salon, at 924-4675, and make an appointment. Each treatment takes about 10-15 minutes only.

7 good reasons for dining out

Dining out makes good sense...

- no dishes to wash
- no pots to scrub
- no shopping to do
- no leftovers to eat
- it's just plain enjoyable and really, when you get down to facts and consider all the conveniences it's just about as much to eat at home.

Put this all on top of the fine food you get at the Nassau Inn ... plus the wonderful atmosphere plus the splendid service and you have truly impressive reasons for dining out at the Nassau Inn.

And to top it all — at the Nassau Inn in Princeton, you can pick from three of the finest restaurants in the area.

There's no place quite like the "Nass" and there's no time like now to enjoy eating out . . . to the fullest.

vealing of the characters of the two men and are played by the actors with extraordinary skill. In real life, the men never met.

GARDEN

The Fighting Prince of Donegal (through Saturday). Walt Disney gives us here an unabashed feast of action and deft acting in an exquisitely photographed color, recounting the days of English tyranny in 16th Century Ireland.

Based on the book, "Red Hugh, Prince of Donegal," the film is filled with love for auld sod. There are generous amounts of action, intrigue and Irish spirit, along with bits of romance and comedy.

Hugh O'Donnell, played by Shakespearean actor Peter McEnery, is the young leader of an Irish rebellion imprisoned by the British. He maneuvers his way through sword fights, quarter-staff rows, roof-climbing and other feats of athletic prowess. His lady love is pretty Susan Hampshire, in the role of Kathleen MacSweeney. There are some sightly-framed action scenes involving the cunning British Captain of the Guard and his men.

The Appaloosa (Sunday through Tuesday). Marlon Brando returns to the western field for the first time since "One-Eyed Jacks." He gives a creditable performance as a vagabond who is forced to kill several men in order to recover the Appaloosa stallion stolen from him by criminals.

It's an off-beat, moody and intense horse opera. The setting is the Mexican border in the year 1870. The characters and plots are classically simple, but Director Robert MacLeod has brought to the film some unconventional and sometimes bizarre techniques he used so effectively in "The Iperess File."

PRINCE AND LINCOLN

Alvarez Kelly (now playing) is a Civil War story with splendid acting by William Holden and Richard Widmark, excellent photography and a catchy musical score.

As the war nears the end, Irish-American rancher Alvarez Kelly (Holden) delivers a herd of 2,500 head of cattle to the Union army in Virginia. He is kidnapped by Col. Richard Widmark and his rebel cavalry troop. Widmark decides to steal the cattle for his side and gains Holden as a reluctant ally by shooting off

HISTORICAL FICTION: Peter McEnery is the brother of a lad chosen to unite the clans of Ireland against English Oppression in "The Fighting Prince of Donnegal," coming to the Garden Theatre this Sunday.

ALVAREZ KELLY, a fast-paced Civil War tale starring William Holden and Victoria Shaw, opens this week at the Prince and Lincoln Theatres.

Holden's finger and promising to repeat the act every day for nine days. Matters are further complicated by Victoria Shaw, a cute li'l ole plantation owner, and Janice Rule as Widmarck's girl who wants out.

NEW STRAND

Italiano Brava Gente (this Wednesday & Thursday) Few war films suggests, as this one does, that the responsibility for war resides more with the individual soldier on the battlefield than it does with the generals and statesmen who use it as an instrument or national policy.

A battalion of Italian soldiers on the Russian front in 1942, reluctant warriors without a cause, are ground between their "allies," the Germans who they despise, and the Russians, who having turned the tide of battle at Stalingrad are not much disposed to offer clemency to Mussolini's token force.

The internationalist cast includes American actors Arthur Kennedy and Peter Falk, Russian actress Shanna Prokhorenko ("Ballad of a Soldier"), and an enormous number of Italian and Russian soldiers who fraternized freely on and off the set, sharing pizza and kasha. Filmed in the Ukraine with American funds as the first co-operative film venture between the Soviet and the United States, this film has not been favorably received at either the Kremlin or the Pentagon.

It's New To Us

English Shop in an exquisite shearling-lined hip length coat from France.

It's called the "Troika" style and you'll feel like a Russian princess when you wear it. The coat is dark brown suede banded at hem and cuffs with brown shearling as soft as beaver itself.

A double band of fur goes up the front and around the neck in a standing collar and the coat is held together by a double frog closing which crosses the front fur bands with a braid of suede.

You may also have it in pale cream with white shearling. And there's a second style, too: a brief swagger with a flat collar and a more conservative closing.

The English Shop's ladies department is shearling-mad this fall. Buy a sheepskin coat with the sheep on the outside this time, honey in color, cuddly as a baby lamb.

Put the sheep on the inside and you have suede on the outside: this coat, from England, has a lining of "mature sheep" and a brown, grey or warm tan outer finish.

A full-length suede coat comes in mature elephant grey or light baby-elephant grey. The lining is otion pile, the cut is either double or single-breasted and in each case, has a fine horizontal seaming to add interest and flair. "Mighty Nice" is the maker.

Sheep-lined boots are ankle or calf height in suede or pebble-finish leather. Scuffs for indoors are sheepish, too, and they come in pink, red or gold.

Sheep have also been used in the wools from Bleyle (German-made), fashioned with V-neck cardigans, contrasting check overblouses and solid-color skirts. Royal, powder, willow, rose . . .

English Shop is happiest about the Bleyle co-ordinates that can be tossed into the maw of the washing-machine and dried without a single press of the iron.

Slacks are sleekly pin-striped (solid, too). There's an "A" or straight skirt, cowled overblouse, cardigan, slipon blouse, all in royal, coral, olive With these slacks and that cowled overblouse—well, you'll just add to the Nassau Street traffic.

YEVTUSHENKO TO READ

From His Own Poetry. Yevgeny Yevtushenko, the eminent Soviet poet, will read from his works at Alexander Hall on Sunday, November 13, at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at McCarter Theatre.

LIBRARY GIVEN PAPERS

Of Eminent Historian. The papers of the late Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker, an authority on the history of New Jersey and American Colonies, have been presented to the University Library by the historian's widow, Dr. Wertenbaker, who died on April 22, had been associated with the University for 56 years.

Beside his extensive work on the American colonies, Dr. Wertenbaker wrote prolifically on New Jersey history. His "Princeton, 1756-1896" was written for the observance of the University's bicentennial year in 1946-47.

Dr. Wertenbaker served for 37 years on the Princeton history faculty. After retiring in 1947 he maintained a close connection with the University. When Princeton awarded him an honorary degree in 1956, he was cited as "Historian of Nassau Hall".

The Wertenbaker collection includes letters, manuscripts and other material. The late historian's writings cover the entire colonial period and include the important three-volume history of the colonies, "The Founding of American Civilization".

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED

By University. The University's 27th Annual Giving campaign has opened this week. Two thousand alumni are soliciting unrestricted gifts from their classmates and other Princetonians across the country.

Last year the campaign raised almost $2.5 million. Since the campaign funds are unrestricted, they can be used by the University where they are needed most, particularly for faculty salaries and academic improvements.

Competition among the 68 alumni classes is an important aspect of the drive. Last year, the 40th reunion class of '26 led with gifts totaling $228,000. The 25th reunion class of '41 followed with a total of $201,000. The campaign will continue until Washington's Birthday.

Obituaries

H. Alexander Smith, 86, former United States Senator and a longtime leader of New Jersey Republicans, died on October 27 in Princeton Hospital after suffering a stroke at his home, 81 Alexander Street, on October 8.

Senator Smith's career spanned the law, politics and international affairs. He once described himself as an "internationalist"—"blending of progressivism with common sense conservatism." A man of great personal charm, he was at one time considered a potential Republican candidate for the Presidency.

He was 64 when he began, in 1944, a 15-year career in the Senate. He became member of the Foreign Relations Committee and played an active part in the formation of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO). He was the Senate representative to the ninth session of the United Nations' General Assembly in 1954.

In the field of labor, he led legislative efforts to require welfare funds to be jointly administered by union and management trustees and to require annual employee authorizations for check offs. Upon his retirement in 1959, he was named a special consultant to the State Department in international affairs.

Aide to Hoover. Senator Smith was an aide to Herbert Hoover during the Belgian Relief program of World War I and was decorated by the Belgian and Serbian governments in recognition of his service. He was a member of the executive committees of the European Children's Fund and the Committee for Relief of the Belgian Educational Foundation. He was also a director of the Finnish Fund, Inc.

He entered politics in 1934, serving as treasurer of the New Jersey Republican Committee through 1941 and as Committee chairman from 1942 through 1944. He was a member of the National Republican Committee from 1942 through 1944.

Born in New York City, on January 30, 1880, Senator Smith was a graduate of the Cutler School in New York, Princeton University, Class of 1901, and Columbia University Law School.

Stricken with tuberculosis shortly after admission to the New York Bar in 1905, he went to Colorado to recover. He practiced law in Colorado Springs from 1905 to 1918, when he was called to Washington to serve on the Hoover staff in the U.S. Food Administration.

Close to University. He maintained a close relationship with Princeton University throughout his life. After serving as chairman of the committee on organization of trustees and faculty in 1910, he was executive secretary of the University from 1920 to 1927.

He became a lecturer on international relations in 1927, continuing until 1933, a year after he resumed the practice of law in New York City. Over the years, he maintained an active interest in the art and archaeolgy department as a member of the alumni visiting committee. He received an honorary LLD from the University in 1945.

Senator Smith was a director of the Foreign Policy Association, a former trustee of the Princeton Yenching Foundation, a member of the American Bar Association, the Council on Foreign Relations and the St. Nicholas Society of New York.

He was also a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the University Club, Princeton Club and the Cartaret Club of Trenton. In Princeton, he was a member of the Nassau, Springdale and Pretty Brook Clubs.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Helen D. Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Samuel M. Shoemaker Jr. of Stevenson, Md., and Mrs. H. K. Twitchell of Setauket, L. I., and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren. A son, H. Alexander Smith Jr., died in 1964.

A memorial service was held in Princeton University Chapel, Dean Ernest Gordon officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

WHY the breakdown between the Township Committee and its Police Department?

WHY did it take a big protest movement last May to stop an unwanted zoning plan?

WHY should the residents of Springdale Road have to worry about hasty Township decisions to accept a major thoroughfare?

WHY do many young people who grow up in Princeton have to move elsewhere when they start their own families?

MUSIC In Princeton

"MUSIC FROM MARLBORO"

It's a Delight. "Music from Marlboro" arrived in Princeton on Monday at 10 McCosh Hall, and was received by one of the most enthusiastic audiences this reviewer has ever observed. The participants responsible for the tumultuous reception were Paula Silverster, flute; Sylvia Rosenberg, violin; Samuel Rhodes, viola; Ko Iwasaki, 'cello and Lillian Kallir, piano

The program included Haydn's Piano Trio in E Flat Major, a Serenade in D for Flute, Violin and Viola by Beethoven and the Piano Quartet in E Flat Major by Schumann.

It was evident right from the opening bars of the Haydn that the capacity audience was in for some unexpected music-making of an unusually high order. Miss Rosenberg with her violin led the work with a vigor and intensity that was to be the group's overall trademark for the evening.

Mr. Iwasaki was not as convincing as the cellist of the ensemble His tone was big on top but on the lower register of his instrument. It was almost inaudible. Miss Kallir as pianist played superbly throughout the evening, most especially during the performance of the Schumann, where she interpreted the rubato of Schumann's style so beautifully while maintaining rhythmic cohesion and balance with her partners.

The flute playing of Miss Sylvester in the Beethoven Serenade was less distinguished as regards tone color but the musicianship was impeccable. Samuel Rhodes produced a strong viola tone which matched the energetic driving quality of his violin partner.

The program itself was delightful. The Haydn Trio is a strong work possessing broad themes that are beautifully organized and developed. The Finale of this score is Haydn at his humorous best.

Beethoven's "Serenade" is a six movement work that is charming once but was intended obviously as a work for the patio of some rich nobleman and outlasts its meager content despite the brilliant instrumental writing contained in many passages of this composition.

The "big" piece on the program was the great Schumann "Quartet", a work that for some unexplainable reason has been obscured by its familiar sister work, the Quintet in E Flat for Piano and Strings. The Quartet is, in this writer's judgement, a far better work and was given a magnificent interpretation. There was no letting up by the performers from the very first pages of the music to the end. This was a performance that was in tune, well-balanced, intensely exciting and expressively noble. The four artists knew their music and presented it with a clear sense of form, revealing their attachment and love for the work in their splendid reading.

If the first "Music From Marlboro" concert is a portent of future performances, then music-lovers should obtain tickets for the remaining two concerts of the "Marlboro" series as early as possible.

ORGAN RECITAL PLANNED

At University Chapel. Carl Weinrich will give an all-Buxtehude organ recital at the University Chapel on Sunday at 3:30. His program recital will include the Chaconne in C minor, "Magnificat Primi Toni", "Ein Feste Burg", the Prelude and Fugue in E minor and "Von Gott Will Ich Nicht Lassen".

Mr. Weinrich recently gave recitals at Saint Paul's chapel in New York and in Massachusetts on the former Boston Music Hall Organ.

PIANO PROGRAM SET

At New School. Richard Chronister, educational director of the New School for Music Study, will conduct a demonstration of group piano teaching techniques at the school on Friday, November 11, at 8 p.m.

The New School has played an important role in the development of modern teaching methods. Music teachers from across the country attend its sessions each year. The teaching program begins by developing physical freedom rhythmic security, reading readiness and independent study habits.

Students participating in the program will be Larraine Tanasi, Lori Ann Jenen, Susan Kalliokoski, Janet Flemer, Joanne Poole, Spencer Snyder, Wallace Cunningham, Ralph Emmerich, and John Loar.

WEEKEND OF STRINGS

Flamenco, Classic. Manitas de Plata will bring his Little Silver Hands to Alexander Hall this Saturday at 8 and Julian Bream will perform in McCarter Theatre Monday at 8:30.

The Flamenco guitarist from Spain via France, performed only at his home in Arles, France, until last year when he made his first visit to the outside world.

Julian Bream, appearing as the first artist on the Music-at-McCarter series, has a world-wide reputation for artistry on both lute and guitar.

CORRECTION

In last week's review of the Tureck recital, the word "fortunately" was used instead of "unfortunately." The sentence in question should have read: ". . . many of the lovely (Bach) ornaments which appeared in Miss Tureck's interpretations are unfortunately omitted in some of the more frequently used editions of these works."

TO IMPROVE DELIVERY

Of Lawrenceville Mail. Rep. Frank Thompson announced this week that he has been successful in having door-to-door mail delivery authorized for Lawrenceville Postal officials expect to start the improved delivery in the near future.

The Post Office had previously authorized only curbline delivery for Lawrenceville. Residents were urged to erect post boxes near the road.

In a series of interviews with the Postmaster General and a written statement, Representative Thompson complained that the community's "whole atmosphere would be harmed by rows of curb mail boxes of different shapes and descriptions." The Congressman said that he was "anxious to preserve the quaint and attractive atmosphere of the town."

What'll They Do Next?

Princeton's teenagers held a record-breaking day on Saturday by raising $714.36 at two events conceived, organized and directed by themselves — against a background of adult encouragement. The funds will go to a wide variety of local and area social service projects.

Trinity Teens grossed $460 at Saturday night's dance, (at $1 per person), a crowded, high-galled affair unmarred by any police problems. Bob Spears is Trinity Teens president.

Princeton Day School's social service committee, led by Jill Cramer, held a pet show in the morning that brought in $254.36. Jane Borgerhoff and Pam Erickson were co-chairmen of the show, which included such side events as a bake sale, car wash, donkey ride and a spook house.

She was taken to Princeton Hospital by Arnold W. Strohkorb of 63 McCosh. Later, Mr. Ward, who is a physician and psychiatrist, had his wife transported to Mercer Hospital.

Mr. Ward told Township Police that he had veered to right to avoid a dog and struck a pole. His car's entire front end was damaged, and it had to be towed away. He complained of chest pains. Police are still investigating the mishap.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the way housewives are boycotting food stores that charge high prices?

Where asked: Princeton Shopping Center.

Jack Ragazzo, Trenton, press operator, American Bilt-rite: I think it's a good idea. It might get the higher-ups to wise up and do something about high prices. I think the whole thing is politics. The government is responsible, not the stores.

John Griswold, Trenton, press operator: It's fine with me. Prices are too high and anything anybody can do to bring them down I'm in favor of. I think trading stamps and contests—like stores giving away Mustangs—help jack up the prices. Somebody has to pay for this—the consumer. I understand they're investigating stamps now.

Alois Cebin, 214 Ewing Street, retired: The ladies are wrong. The man makes a lot of money today and I feel she can pay these prices. People make a lot of money today; the ladies have no complaints. I was here in 1924 when a man made $13-$20 a week. Now its $150 to $200. What do the people want? This is a great country.

Mrs. Mae Burns, 105 Shady Brook Lane, housewife: I think they are wasting their time. Prices will go right back up. I think general conditions are responsible for high prices, not just the stores.

Mrs. Alan Boyden, Jr., Belle Mead, housewife: I think it is the only way food prices will come down. I wonder when they are going to start it here? I don't think the stores are at fault; it's probably LBJ himself.

Mrs. Ferdinand White, Mercer Road, housewife: I think they should strike against the government, not the stores. It's the administration's fault that we have high prices. Certainly it's not the fault of the farmers' nor the stores'.

Mrs. Henry Martin, 100 Dodds Lane, housewife: I'm afraid it'may do only temporary good. I can't believe it will have any lasting effect. The grocer is the unfortunate middle man. I don't think the individual grocers are responsible for high prices but the chains which run these stores.

Mrs. Eunice Vanderlann, 409 Butler Avenue, housewife: I'm not so sure that's the answer to the question—and I don't know what the answer is because I'm not an economist, but I am displeased with high prices.

Mrs. Kathy MacMurdo, Millstone River Apartments, housewife: I think it's great! I think more women should do it.

Mrs. James Simons, 275 Riverside Drive, housewife: I think it's fine. I think the war is responsible for high prices—not the stores. I think when the war is over prices will go down again.

Mrs. Roberta Turner, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, housewife: I think they're doing right. I feel food prices are way out of proportion.

Donald Bayes, West Windsor, Seminary student: I think it's a good idea. I just hope it does some good. It'll make the grocers look bad if prices come down because it will show there was no reason for prices to be that high in the first place. Who's responsible? I think in produce the handling it receives after it leaves the farmer — the packaging, transportation and so on. The stores are caught in the middle.

Mrs. John Overboe, Griggstown, housewife: I don't know how right they are in boycotting . . . everything is getting expensive . . . wages are going up. I don't know how much profit the stores have; I hear it's very small. I agree prices are too high but I don't know who's responsible.

Mrs. C. B. Rickell, Kingston, sales clerk, Bamberger's: I think really and truly prices have gone way above what they should be. There's no justifiable cause for it. These supermarkets buy in such volume that prices are lower for them. I now buy as little as I can get away with. I count everything I buy. My buying habits have changed greatly. For instance, I've cut down so much I'm at the point where I can't cut down any more.

Theodore Weiss, Princeton, teacher: I think it's a good thing. I feel prices are out of reach and this type of action makes sense.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Fees, 162 Snowden Lane, housewife and student: I don't approve of it. It's not the supermarkets' fault. Who's? I don't think anybody can say who's to blame. I think everybody adds a cent—the farmer, the distributor, the market—and we are just paying for it. I believe each has just as much right as the other to add a cent if they want to earn a higher profit.

Mrs. Valeretta Buie, State Road, housewife: I'm for it. Food is too high! A poor person has a hard time, especially in Princeton. Food prices are very high here. I imagine the cause for it comes from the distribution higher up. I couldn't say it's just the manager because prices are set before food gets to the store.

Mrs. Gustaf Lindquist, 105 Longview Drive, housewife: I wouldn't join such demonstrations but I do think prices are terribly high. Somehow, if the chain markets could do something, maybe prices could be brought down but as far as demonstrating against the stores, I don't believe in that.

Take a good look at them — carpets, rugs, walls, furniture and floors. Do they still retain that "like-new" sparkle? Or is it time they had professional cleaning attention? Disregard the Distaff Side.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish it were possible this election for the voters to overlook the fact that Mrs. Geraldine Boone is a woman and a Democrat.

The male candidates, of course, are good men, but just think: we have an opportunity this year to elect an outstanding person interested in our community and in being on the Committee.

Voters' Memories Not Short.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The local Republicans either have no shame or they credit voters with very short memories. Their campaign literature lists, among other things, the new public library, Community Park and the Harrison Street housing for the elderly as solid Republican accomplishments.

If ever there was a non-partisan effort in this town, it was the one for the new library and many Democrats who worked for it, along with Republicans, should be surprised to learn that its tradition is now claimed by Republicans as their accomplishment.

Community Park, which grew out of the demand for a public swimming pool, owes its origins to Democratic pressure during the last several campaigns. Democrats like Andrews, Bannon, Bartolino, Durbin, Gottlieb, Minis, Morgan and Yost must be surprised to find their efforts now forgotten or dismissed.

Indeed, it was the Gottlieb-Yost public meeting at the High School about 3 years ago which brought the latent hopes of 20 years to a head. And even Republican Mayor Patterson should admit that without Democrati Durbin on the Council, the pool would not now be a fact. (Maybe the Republicans will let someone swim in it next year.)

Democrats Andrew, Baldeagle, Bartolino, Dilworth, Minis, Morgan, Joseph Reddine, Strayer and Wells must all be surprised that "Republican Government" is now claiming credit for the low-cost housing for the elderly. For these are people who, either as members of the Housing Authority, or as candidates for office as far back as 1962, fought our "Republican Government" hard, for years, to make possible the housing now at last rising on North Harrison. As a matter of fact, those Republicans on the Housing Authority who also fought "Republican Government" on this issue at that time must now be wincing at the current claims.

One Good Turn . . .

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Have some forgotten that as Princeton Township led the nation in affirmative response to a Gallup Poll simple question: "Do you like to live in your present community?" Ninety percent of our beloved township said "Yes" — highest affirmative percentage in the nation.

What has made this a desirable community? A great university, fine people, good homes, and consistently good government.

If consistently good government had come through Democrats, then they would deserve an encore. But when it is Republican, should Democratic office-seekers contrive a cry of "one-party government" as though that person were evil?

An aside to professed opponents of "one-party government" — will you help us get rid of one-party government in Mercer County?

Teen Problem Examined.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The article on teens in Princeton on page 1 of the October 27 issue points at a problem for this community, and seems to suggest a solution. Before we jump to a solution of force, i.e. more police power, let us look at the causes of the problem.

Is the cause of the problem the teenagers themselves, or is the cause a community attitude? An attitude that manifests itself in restaurants which cater to University students, and want loitering ordinances enforced against the youth who live in the town. (The restaurants can answer by quoting the statistics on the number of teenagers and lack of space.)

For a town that is known as the "Golden Ghetto," why is it that teens congregate in groups on Nassau Street? Is it because they want to be together, a natural part of this period in their lives, and do not have a place in which they can be together in their groups? For decades teens have congregated on Nassau Street in groups, but they are more obvious now because of their numbers.

Before we get more police to keep teens off the street, let us consider where they can go to be together. Some of the churches have reached out through dances on weekends and a coke joint on weekday afternoons. There are four churches in or near the heart of "the street," but each has limited space. There is also the former Miss Fine's School gym which to be part of the new Borough Hall.

Is the proposed Student Lounge in Community Park really the answer, or is the answer to be found in the heart of town? The facilities are already in existence, if they are utilized to serve the community. Five locations are here, and each could accommodate 200 to 400 teens for dancing and just plain sitting around and talking.

Those who are calling for more police to handle "the problem" could help solve the solution by doing something about it. By assuming responsibility as a community to help its youth grow into adulthood, and not just more barriers in an already difficult process, namely "growing up." There is a phrase which is familiar and can be applied here. "Are you working on the solution, or are you part of the problem." Let us pull together and work on the solution, for we are all responsible for, and part of, the problem.

TO CARE FOR TREES

At Borough Hall. Princeton Theological Seminary, the new owner of Borough Hall, has undertaken a program to care for deteriorating trees on the property.

After consulting Borough Council and the Shade Tree Commission, the Seminary decided moribund trees are unsafe and will have to be removed. Four others will be given extensive treatment.

The Seminary acquired the Thompson Hall property in 1963. The Borough government will continue to occupy it until the new Borough Hall is ready for occupancy.

ASTRONOMER TO SPEAK

At Amateurs' Meeting. Dr. Robert E. Danielson, associate professor of astrophysical sciences at Princeton University, will speak at the monthly public meeting of the Amateur Astronomers Association this Thursday at 8 p.m. at the YMCA.

Dr. Danielson's talk, "Space Astronomy," will survey past, present and future astronomy programs. He will discuss plans to place intermediate and large telescopes in orbit to give researchers a new vantage point from which to study astronomical phenomena.

Dr. Danielson came to the University in 1958 immediately after earning his Ph.D. in cosmic ray physics at the University of Minnesota. He is executive director of Princeton's stratoscope program and a principal investigator on the advanced satellite program.

"BACK TO SCHOOL"

For Hopewell Parents. Hopewell parents will be invited to their children's schools next week as part of the Hopewell School District's observance of National Education Week, November 7 through 12.

Parents will be able to observe classes in the elementary schools next Wednesday and Thursday, November 9 and 10, from 9 to 11 at the Bear Tavern School and from 9:30 to 11:30 in the other schools. Those with children in the afternoon kindergartens are invited to visit in the afternoon.

Hopewell Valley Central High School will hold a "Back to School Night" next Wednesday evening from 8 to 10:30. Parents will follow their children's schedule from class to class and meet their teachers. The Timberlane Jr. School will hold its "Back To School Night" nets Tuesday from 8 to 10:30.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY SET

At Sportsmen's Club. Democratic candidates for local and county offices will appear at a rally at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club on Sunday from 3 to 6.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served, and there will be no speeches.

TRAVELOGUE PLANNED

For Friday Club Meeting. Miss Dorothy Snow, professor of English at Rider College, will present a travelogue on the American West at this week's meeting of the Friday Club at the YWCA at 2. Tea will be served and Mrs. Ruth Thornton will play the piano.

The Friday Club, the senior citizen's organization of the YWCA, meets on the first and third Friday of each month. All older women are invited, and no reservation is necessary. Those who need a ride to and from the meetings should call Mrs. Brannon at the Y, 924-4825, before 11 on the day of the meeting.

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

By John A. McPhee

David S. Thompson and John D. Wallace, candidates for election to the Princeton Township Committee, have asked me to write a short message saying why I am going to vote for them on November 8th. My own voting record has been more on the Democratic side than the Republican side, over the years, but I am going to vote for these Republican candidates because of the nature of their collective background, service, and experience in Princeton.

Jack Wallace, for example, is a native of Princeton. He went to public and private schools in Princeton, and later to Princeton University. He commuted for some years to a New York job and is now an officer in the Trust Department of The First Trenton National Bank.

For four years he has been a member of the Princeton Township Planning Board, giving many hours each month to the planning of the future shape of the Township. Princeton, as a whole, consists of a number of distinct components whose interests occasionally conflict, so it is of obvious advantages to a local leader to be, and to have been involved in so many parts of the local scene, from the commuter community to the university. Also, natives are such a minority in Princeton that a native candidate for office is rare, and, by definition, no one can have a more complete sense of continuity about the place where he lives than someone who has lived there all his life.

That in itself does not qualify a man for office, but, given the other credentials of Jack Wallace, it has relevance. Professionally, Jack Wallace's experience is in the financial world, a vital background for a person who would serve on the body that controls Township tax money. Finally, Wallace is young. He is 33.

David Thompson is also a graduate of the university and he has served the Township government as Tax Collector since 1964. But it seems to me that the most significant asset of his candidacy is that he is Director of Development at Princeton University.

The time has passed when Princeton, as a community, was essentially synonymous with Princeton University. The university is now reduced to the new status of being merely the biggest thing in town.

The population of the town and township has quintupled in the past 30 years, and with these gains, Princeton has become more complicated, less homogenous. In some ways more interesting, and certainly less easy to differentiate from other towns of comparable size in the New York metropolitan area. Nonetheless, Princeton University is the principal reason, directly or indirectly, why many who live here came to this particular town. Therefore it is no less true now than it was 30 years ago that the most important local consideration is the theme of town-and-gown, for it is to everyone's interest that the university functions in an agreeable setting, and this implies responsibilities on both sides.

As a member of the Township Committee, David Thompson would not be a voice of the university, he would be a voice from the university. On campus, he would be a voice from the Township Committee.

Thompson and Wallace have a ten-point program which has been energetically circulated. They have emphasized their interest in bringing the Township and the Borough closer together in as many ways as possible, notably through the creation of a joint Planning Board.

Without doing violence to the aspect of the town, they want to try to lighten local traffic problems. They want to

DEMOCRATIC

By Harold Remus

I intend to vote for Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith for the Township Committee because I believe they understand what it means to "keep Princeton Princeton."

Each person has his own list of what he prizes in Princeton. There are the excellent schools. There are educational institutions that attract scholars and lecturers from around the world, provide a forum for discussion of important issues, and contribute significantly to an atmosphere congenial to the performing arts. There are tree-lined streets, flowering trees and shrubs, low density of population. There are community spirit and traditions.

One item is often overlooked in drawing up these lists, and Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith have been pointing it out. That is the relation between these distinctive and desirable features and the nature of the Princeton population.

It used to be that most of the people who lived here worked here. Or at least that people who worked here lived here—that is, they were able to live here. Now many of them find it increasingly difficult or even impossible to do so.

I think we know who they are. They are teachers who teach in our elementary and high schools, at the Seminary, at the Day College. They are policemen who through their vigilance are contributing to keeping Princeton Princeton that is, keeping Princeton property in Princeton) but who find it increasingly difficult to get together down payments and tax monies, as is shown by the current drive for a salary increase and by the fact that the Township has had to change its ordinances in order to allow policemen to find housing in communities they can afford even though they work here.

They are service employees like waiters, mechanics, barbers 'next time ask yours how many barbers live in Princeton and, if not, whether this is by choice or necessity). They are people not earning prime-of-life incomes, whether married students or retired couples.

These people are sometimes overlooked in community planning. The kind of contributions Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith have made to the community show their concern for the whole community, with all its traditional diversity of population and interests. They see that some of the distinctive and desirable features that we associate with keeping Princeton Princeton are tied up with this question of who lives here.

For example, do we really think that teachers, policemen, craftsmen, and service employees are going to do their jobs as well and stay as long if they don't have the kind of identification with the community that comes from living in it, having their children grow up in it and attend its schools. The fact that the Township once had an ordinance requiring its policemen to live here indicates that we once thought that local residence was important to their functioning as policemen. To keep Princeton Princeton would be to do something to enable as many of them as possible to live here.

To attract top quality teachers the University has thought it important to be able to assure prospective faculty members they would be able to live in the community. When it became evident that persons looking for a community with Princeton's distinctive features would almost always outbid faculty employees in the housing market, the University started providing more faculty housing —that was its way of keeping Princeton Princeton, that is, enabling people who work here to live here. In our local schools, how long are we going to be able to attract top quality teachers—who give their best and stay around a while—if we either do not raise their salaries to the point where they compete in the housing market or if we do not help them with the housing problem in some way?

It's a cliche to say that this (of which I've taken as an example) is exceedingly complex and that proposed solutions are riddled with ironies (for example, raising taxes to raise teachers' salaries might force other persons out of the community). Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith firmly believe, however, that our community can reach some sort of equitable solutions to these promote the development of the Office and Research Zone near the shopping center, partly because tax relief would be the result; and they want to stay as close as possible to the present tax-rate.

They have developed each of their points into specific and detailed proposals which, as a whole, point toward a sensible program for Princeton Township and one that I will be proud to vote for when I vote for Dave Thompson and Jack Wallace.

problems if there is the determination to do so.

Their outstanding records of community service, such as the founding of the Youth Employment Service and the Princeton Study Center, show what can be accomplished when determination is happily married to initiative and blessed with imagination. Few persons have worked as hard in the community as these two. (This alone is one good reason for taking them at their word when they say they are for a more responsive Township government.) In their work they have kept the concerns of the whole community in view, and they are now urging that local concerns be seen within a larger, regional context.

I hope voters of both parties will not pass up this opportunity to elect Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith, two of the finest candidates we have had in the Township for some time.

WHEELING & DEALING

In Postage Stamps. "I'll trade my zeppelin for two of your waterfalls," a man says. Well . . . I'm building up my kings right now . . . What do you have?"

Swap sessions, bringing forth all the ancient arts of barter, are held twice a month by the Princeton Philatelic Society. "Sometimes they haggle as though their lives depended upon it—and it's only a 10c stamp!" is the amused comment of Mrs. Melvin Schultz.

Jonas Wittenberg confesses with a grin, "I enjoy wheeling and dealing the stamps as much as anything." The key to it, though, is to collect for the fun of it. "You buy or swap because the stamp fits in to your collection."

Don't Speculate. "You don't play the stamp market. For instance, the United Nation's 15th Anniversary stamps that was selling for $1, shot up to $5 last summer, now it's down to $3. You can get 1800 25 stamps for a penny apiece. So, you buy the stamps you like. With time, just intelligent collecting can be a fairly sound investment. But I don't recommend stamp speculation to anyone."

The Princeton Philatelic Society, organized in 1943, is a loose federation of enthusiasts who meet at 8 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays in First Presbyterian Church. Often, a member gives a talk on a special aspect of his collection. These days, they're all specialists.

"It's financially impossible to collect world-wide anymore," Mrs. Schultz reports. "At one point, a man had all but 4,000 of 133,000 issued, but now Russia, the African nations and others are just flooding the market with stamps. You almost have to specialize at the beginning."

Mrs. Schultz has an album devoted to stamps with a religious theme, with cross-references to the Bible for every stamp it contains. It is an awesome example of specialized collecting.

Civil War Illustrated. You can trace the battles of the Civil War through the stamped envelopes ("covers") Mr. Wittenberg has accumulated.

Specialists' albums are devoted to flags, or the Olympics, or all kings or all queens. Some collect stamps printed only in black, or covers from Outer Mongolia. The fields are endless: odd shapes, Tibet, music, Spanish, Council of Europe (now "Europa"), explorers, history of man, animals, ships, sports, bridges, nudes, Antarctic, first flights, post office openings, waterfalls, mythology, and the postal history of Upper New York.

At last, a sports car for grown-ups—the Mercedes-Benz 230SL

At $6185, the Mercedes-Benz 230SL ranks among the world's great sports cars. Motor magazine describes roadholding as "uncanny." Yet the 230SL doesn't thunder, rattle, ride like an oxcart or look like a rocket ship. It's a civilized two-seater built for normal adults, not acrobats. Read how the 230SL delivers all the pleasures of sports car driving—and none of the privations.

MANY driving enthusiasts feel the urge to own a sports car—but don't like to suffer their usual hardships and handicaps. A solution is at hand: the Mercedes-Benz 230SL. "In place of colossal maximum speed and breathtaking acceleration, the magic of this car lies instead in its refinement, comfort and superb road behavior," reports Autocar.

You can have your cake and eat it, too. The 230SL is supremely livable. And it runs rings around much of its sports car competition.

"There must be a limit, but your passenger in normal tones.

The major reason: a 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine, with fuel injection replacing carburetors and hours of patient handwork to ensure running smoothness.

For example, pistons are machined to tolerances of .019 of a millimeter. Every engine is bench-tested for over an hour.

Superb stopping power

However vigorously you drive it, the 230SL cannot outrun its magnificent brakes.

Mercedes-Benz 230SL Roadster cockpit is designed for normal adults, not acrobats. Comfort is so complete that driver and passenger have separate heater and ventilation controls.

because it uses no nuts and bolts. After hand filing and buffing, this body is submerged in a 52-ton primer vat where every crevice gets a protective coating. After the primer coat is baked on, 24 pounds of permanent undercoating seals the underside. Engine, drive train and suspension are rubber cushioned to quell vibration. No wonder the car pounds over brutal surfaces without tremors, rattles or jolts.

In fact, the 230SL thrives on rough going. Competition driver Eugen Boehringer under-

The 230SL even quashes that ancient complaint about sports car trunk space. A carpeted alcove behind the seats holds large parcels or small children. The trunk carries 12 cubic feet of luggage.

Note: Power steering and a 4-speed, automatic transmission are two of the few extra-cost options offered for the 230SL. Autocar sums them up succinctly: "We have never tried a more successful power steering, and the automatic transmission is also among the best in our experience."

Three cars in one

You can choose from three 230SL models: the soft-top Roadster, at $6185*; the hardtop Coupe, at $6343*; and the Roadster/Coupe, which gives you both tops, at $6587*.

"The detachable hardtop is so beautifully engineered that it doesn't look as though it should come off at all," comments Motor.

you may notice that he writes strange words, abbreviations, letters or numbers similar to the above on the prescription blank. Perhaps you wonder why the doctor uses such a system rather than writing everything in English. Is this done to merely mystify the patient, or is it the most reliable way for your doctor to communicate with your pharmacist as to your medical needs?

The system of writing prescriptions in Latin is an ancient one. Even today, it remains as the quickest and most reliable way for a physician to indicate to a pharmacist information about dosage and directions for a drug produce.

The English language is filled with words that sound or look the same and yet have different meanings — words like "to," "too," or "two." Latin is different in that most words or abbreviations have only one meaning. The Latin symbols above mean "Direction: Take two capsules three times a day before meals." You can see how much shorter the directions are in Latin and yet how exact they are when translated into English. This system is used to clarify — not mystify.

The fact that both your pharmacist and physician must understand this method of writing prescriptions is another indication of how closely they work together as a team. It is the pooling of their knowledge of the medical sciences with reliable methods of communicating this knowledge to one another that assures you of your most valuable asset — good health

"There must be a limit, but on a dry road we never found it"
—Motor road test

The 230SL vaults from zero to 60 mph in 10 seconds. It reaches its peak only at 125 mph. But its most startling trait is its leech-like roadability.

Even a quick inspection shows why. The car stands a mere yard and a half high. Yet it straddles the road with a track five feet wide. Tires seem to bulge out from the body sides. Note: These aren't ordinary tires, but radial-ply design, specifically tailored to the car's speed, weight and handling traits.

All four wheels are linked to a fully independent suspension system, first proved on a world-championship Mercedes-Benz racing machine. This skillful engineering has eliminated any trace of a harsh "sports car ride" —as Autocar discovered: "When being really hurtled along, the 230SL sits down on the road beautifully, sweeping over bumps and undulations with the minimum of vertical movement and no sensation at all of wheels pattering up and down." No bone-jarring jolts; this is a civilized sports car—and with a wheelbase of less than 8 feet, an agile one. The 230SL nips and darts through dense city traffic like a whippet in a herd of buffalo.

No frazzled nerves

On the open road, the 230SL replaces the raucous bellow of most sports cars with a soothing hum. You can actually converse with

Up front are 9.9-inch disc brakes. Finned, 9.05-inch turbo-cooled drums act on the rear wheels. A gentle power assist transmits pedal pressure to these brakes—softly enough to avoid sudden lurching stops, strongly enough to deliver instant response.

A reassuring fact: Road & Track magazine has been testing all kinds of cars for almost 20 years. The 230SL holds the record for fast stopping times.

Strong and silent type

Many sports cars are intended as plaything—and built accordingly. The 230SL is meant to endure for years without showing its age.

Heavy gauge steel body panels are welded into a single, solid structure that can't rattle scored the point. He slammed his 230SL over some of Europe's worst back roads in the Liége-Sofia-Liége Rally and he won.

Bring your wife

Take your wife on a test drive in the 230SL. She'll be hard put to find drawbacks.

For example, your passenger enjoys more forward legroom than in a Rolls-Royce. Seats are firmly upholstered, contoured chairs—not skimpy "buckets." You are sealed against wind gusts and cold with roll-up side windows and one of the tightest-fitting convertible tops ever devised.

Dual heater and ventilation controls let you select whatever interior climate you want, while your passenger does the same.

A safe sports car

The 230SL's foremost safety feature is its incredible maneuverability. You can drive away from danger. But if trouble should occur, you are also well protected.

The car body itself is a patented safety feature. On violent impact, front and rear sections are designed to collapse to absorb shock. Inside, even the steering wheel hub is designed for safety. It is padded, not pointed. Lethal projections are absent. Door handles are recessed, control knobs are made of pliable materials, and the rearview mirror is spring mounted to snap off if struck.

The final proof

A small number of 230SL models are now available for immediate delivery. Come in soon and take a thorough test drive in the 230SL—the sports car for grown-ups.

NEW MEMBERS INVITED

By PAA, Princeton area residents with an interest in art are invited to join the Princeton Art Association. Now in its third year, the Association provides facilities and organizes various activities for both professional and amateur artists.

Beside conducting classes in painting, sculpture and graphics, the organization sponsors exhibits, lectures, demonstrations and other activities. Its Nassau Street headquarters is equipped with studios, classrooms, offices, a lounge and a meeting room.

Memberships are payable this month and extend through next October. Dues are $10 a year for individuals, $15 for couples and $5 for students. Those who simply wish to support the organization can obtain an associate membership for $3. A "contributing membership" is given to those who give more than $10, while "patrons" annually contribute more than $100.

Those wishing further information should call Mrs. H. M. Schroder at the PAA office, 921-9173. Membership applications should be addressed to Mrs. Simon Marcson, 36 Marion Road East. Since the PAA is a non-profit organization, dues are tax deductible.

PRINTS ON DISPLAY

At University. An exhibit of 48 modern prints on religious subjects has opened at the University's Murray-Dodge Hall and will continue until Sunday, November 13. Thirty-two artists are represented, including Marc Chagall and Georges Rouault.

The prints date as far back as Bresdin's "Good Samaritan," executed in 1861, and span the period until 1962, when Watanabe's "People Visiting the Stable" was produced. Included are Christian interpretations by impressionists, surrealists and abstract expressionists.

Most of the prints illustrate Biblical stories. Chagall is represented with three of his series of Biblical illustrations. Other artists who are represented are Emile Bernard, Marcello Mueccini and Salvador Dali.

tory comes out of these stamps, Mr. Wittenberg says,

"The stampless covers of France are fascinating, definite history. "During the calendar change in the Napoleonic era, there was a 10-year period with 10 extra leap days. One collector has several covers of these days.

"You find propaganda on stamps. Both Salvador and Guatemala 'make the best coffee in the world.' Currency is reflected, the inflation of the German mark, the drop in the pe st-war British pound."

Frauds Increase Value. Stamp collectors have uncovered frauds. Cathedral frescoes on a Germah stamp puzzled a group of collectors because the saints lacked their usual companion symbols. One even resembled a movie star. Inquiry disclosed the fraud. "Boy, are those stamps going up in price!"

Many stamps are considered "wallpaper" by club members. "Great batches are cancelled by foreign countries and shipped to dealers by the ton. They're never sent through the mail," Mrs. Schultz says.

"Or Togo, for instance, which has no involvement in the space age, issued an astronaut series just because they knew people were collecting space stamps. There may be as many as 125 million stamps printed on a particular commemorative issue — so you really collect because you like stamps. (The issues of the Vatican and Israel are just fabulous!")

"Stamp collecting is a lifetime habit. Often you don't buy a stamp for years, you're occupied with your career or your family. But you go back to it," she adds.

Mr. Wittenberg still has two 2c stamps he bought as a boy after a long trudge through New York City streets to the Scott Stamp Company. His father had touched him off with a gift of a bag of miscellaneous stamps. Mrs. Schultz and her husband have been collecting ever since "Grandma Schultz emptied her attic!"

About 25 men and women, mostly men, form the nucleus of the Princeton club. Another 50 come and go. The members, many of whom are experts in their fields, make very effective presentations before school groups and clubs. They welcome newcomers.

"Stamp collecting is fascinating," Mr. Wittenberg says with zest. "It's only incidentally lucreous!"

UPSET POSSIBLE?

Tigers Hope So. Not in more than a quarter century has the imbalance between Harvard and Princeton football teams been as great as it is just prior to the game to be played Saturday in Palmer Stadium.

The Crimson, 6-0 and wholly intent on winning its first undisputed Ivy title, faces a Tiger eleven that may not make it into first division by season's end and if it does not, will finish below the .500 mark for the first time in the current decade. A crowd of better than 30,000 is expected for the 1:30 kickoff.

Consigned to second division itself in the pre-season forecasts — largely because it had not in the past lived up to what the sportswriting fraternity considered its potential — the Crimson has won them all so far, and won them big. One-sided triumphs over outmatched Lafayette and Tufts were followed by a wholly unexpected 21-0 shutout of Cornell, a shellacking of winless Columbia, a dramatic come-from-behind triumph over defending champion Dartmouth, and a 27-7 victory over stubborn Penn.

QUICK LOOK AT HARVARD

OFFENSE: Best in years — welded together by junior Ric Zimmerman at quarterback.

DEFENSE: Tops in the Ivy League —fine blend of size and speed.

CHIEF ASSET: Ball control. Ability to stage sustained marches culminating in touchdowns.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Mounting pressure as team drives for first unbeaten season at Harvard since 1913.

TYPE OF OFFENSE: Flanker T, frequent use of split end and slot backs.

It was the ease which it handled well-regarded Cornell and then its ability to go 80 yards against the clock to edge Dartmouth, 19-14, that convinced onlookers of what the team itself had felt from September 1: the Ivy championship was clearly within reach. On Saturday, Harvard comes into Palmer Stadium perched in the catbird's seat, needing victory only in two of its final three games against Princeton, Brown and Yale to earn at least a tie for first place. It is a sound bet to finish with a perfect season, for the first time in 53 years.

Markedly weak on offense for the past three seasons—an average of no more than 14 points a game since 1962—Coach John Yovicsin's forces have produced better than 25 points in their four Ivy League outings to date. Only Dartmouth and Penn could score on them while the decision remained in doubt. On offense, they are averaging around 300 yards a game while yielding about 225 on defense — a formula that is a sure road to victory when accompanied by a scoring punch.

Running Game Strong. It is largely the running of halfbacks Bobby Leo and sophomore Vic Gatto and fullback Tom Choquette that has carried Harvard to its league-leading status. But the Crimson has had other good backs in recent years without setting the world afire, so that considerable credit is being given to junior Ric Zimmerman as the quarterback who has made a fine offensive unit of this 1966 backfield.

Zimmerman does not throw a great deal but he passes enough to keep the defense honest and he has the knack of hitting when it counts most — as he did on the winning touchdown drive against Dartmouth. Ends Joe Cook and Carter Lord, a pair of 6-2 juniors, are his favorite receivers.

Leo and Gatto, both relatively small, both extremely able, are averaging around seven yards per carry overall and are the two top backs in the Ivy

A TWO-MAN JOB: Sophomore Dick Bracken, at 210 the biggest tailback in Princeton history, was a touch assignment for Brown to handle in Saturday's game at Providence. The 150 yards he gained running and passing were a major factor in Tigers' 21-7 triumph. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

League's rushing statistics. Gatto, a squat 5-6, 190-pounder, was the highest scoring freshman in Harvard football history with 44 points in six games.

Size and experience up front provide good blocking. On defense, the secondary began the season somewhat inexperienced but the front five are big and smart — among them the veteran tackle Dave Davis, one-time Princeton resident.

Fourth Period Drive Wins. No better off than 10-7 when the final period began at Providence Saturday, Princeton twice marched 80 yards to post a 24-7 decision over outmanned Brown. The losers had themselves gone 80 yards in the second period to draw even at 7-all, but Ted Garcia's 30-yard field goal shortly thereafter put the Tigers in front at the intermission and they remained in control, sometimes a bit shakily.

Brown simply doesn't have it: when Princeton did — generally with Dick Bracken at tailback and Dave Martin at fullback — it cut the mustard often enough to win its 13th straight over the Rhode Island entry since 1954. The Tigers had their best day on offense all season, accumulating for 422 yards — 346 on the ground.

After a scoreless first quarter — it took the Orange and Black 12 minutes to record a first down — the Tigers went 60 yards in a dozen plays, wingback John Bowers taking the ball in from the 12 for the TD. Brown promptly rolled 80 yards in just nine plays but it was the losers' only deep penetration of Princeton territory all day.

Garcia's field goal this third of the season, thereby surpassing Charlie Gogolak output as a sophomore, returned the lead to the Tigers a few minutes before the half ended. Little of note occurred during the third period, but with Bracken and Martin punishing well Bracken gained 131 yards in 18 carries for a fine seven-yard average). Princeton eventually took charge. Martin scored twice, giving him four touchdowns in two games since he has been able to play regularly.

Junior tailback Bob Weber received a shoulder injury early in the game, and at midweek his status against Harvard was in doubt. Doug James, a defensive back for three seasons, ran out of the tailback slot in the final period and was impressive considering his total lack of work there. If Weber isn't ready Saturday, James may see double duty again, although playing both ways against Harvard will be fairly difficult than against Brown.

Intriguingly, the victory left the underdog Princetonians in a second place tie behind Harvard, bracketed at 2-1 with Dartmouth and Cornell. The standings are, however, a bit misleading in that they have played all three of the teams which are expected to finish at the bottom of the heap. Whereas either Dartmouth or Cornell will in all probability win all their remaining games, the Tigers will do well to take even one of their remaining three.

What Chance for an Upset? Some, obviously, because the oft-repeated statement that "in the Ivy League, any team may defeat any other on a given day" is fundamentally correct. Over the years, actually, it has been Harvard that has fallen victim to an upset as much as any other team, but chiefly at the hands of such sleepers as Penn, Brown and Columbia and not against teams it particularly wants to defeat.

Princeton, of course, is squarely in the latter category in pre-game planning at Cambridge — Harvard will be sky high for this one. Over-confidence on its part is by no means a factor that will be working for Princeton Saturday.

Indicative of the Tigers' problem in winning one they are hardly expected to is the fact that they are coming up to their seventh game of the season with no assurance of what their starting backfield will be if Bob Weber is in good shape he may get the nod at tailback over Dick Bracken; fullback Bill Berkeley started at Brown, to some extent because Dave Martin had undergone minor surgery on a fractured nose five days earlier.

A team that suddenly jells can occasionally manufacture an upset, but Harvard appears to be too solid for such a development to occur while it is providing the opposition. Inadequate blocking at the fullback and guard positions has been a season-long problem for Princeton, and the crisp, sure-fire ground game that has been the hallmark of Tiger teams for the past three years is unlikely to be reincarnated Saturday.

Good Luck Essential. Any team engineering an upset will require a major share of the breaks: punts that twist out at the coffin corner instead of rolling into the end zone, recovery of a key fumble or two, a vital interception that stalls out an opposition scoring drive.

All these may come to the Tigers, but it would appear that one possibility is too far out to develop. And that this season has Princeton's passing game steadily jarred the other guys, not once have Weber, Bracken or Martin connected for anything approaching the bomb.

If such a play occurs — once, conceivably twice — watch for a possible Princeton upset. Failing this, the form charts should stand up for a clear-cut Harvard victory.

CRUCIAL GAME AT HAND

PHS vs. Steinert. No less than the probable eventual winner of the mythical Mercer County football crown will be decided Saturday when unbeaten Steinert and once-defeated Princeton High clash at 2 on the Spartans' home field.

Though mythical, the championship of Mercer County is highly-prized. "We're looking forward to Steinert," said PHS coach Dick Wood. "I won't have any trouble getting the boys up for this one; they realize what it means."

Should the Little Tigers win, they would enter a four-way tie for first place with Steinert, Notre Dame and Hamilton. This log jam would last one week. PHS meets Notre Dame the following week and Steinert and Hamilton tangle on November 18.

As expected both PHS and Steinert had easy victories preparatory to their confrontation. The Little Tigers scored three touchdowns in rapid fire order in the third quarter en route to a 37-0 victory over Asbury Park. Steinert ran the number of points scored against hapless Trenton this fall to 220, as it rolled to a 52-0 triumph — its highest score in its history.

Both Teams Alike. A close look at both teams reveals that each is a high-scoring outfit and is also highly defense-minded. Steinert has outscored its opposition 185 to 21, shutting out three in the process. No team has scored more than seven points against the Spartan defense.

PHS, in turn, is a shade more impressive in amassing 204 points to its opponents' 31. It has blanked four.

Both can erupt offensively. Princeton, for example, scored 34 points in the first period alone against Trenton. The Spartans showed the fury they are capable of against Notre Dame. In the second half they racked up 13 first downs and 258 yards rushing.

A look at their two common opponents underlines even more the apparent evenness between the two. Against Trenton Steinert scored eight TDs and Princeton nine (61-0); against Ewing each scored four times, 27-0 Steinert, and 24-0 PHS. In other games this year, Steinert opened with a 13-7 decision over Sayreville, blanked Madison Township, 27-0; defeated previously unbeaten Notre Dame, 27-0; and routed St. Anthony's 39-7.

Among its many fine players, two stand out and make the Spartans go. They are senior Gary Hohman, 5-11, 175-pound quarterback, and a fleet halfback Mike Rakoski, who is an excellent pass receiver. Of the 29 TDs engineered by Steinert so far, these two have been responsible for 18.

Hohman is Mr. Everything. He has thrown six TD passes including three to Rakoski for 41, 32 and 35 yards. He has returned two punts 60 yards for scores and run for six more. Two of the latter measured 70 and 49 yards.

In addition, Hohman kicks extra points. Those three 27 scores would indicate he is about 75 percent effective. Against Trenton he was four for eight.

Rakoski High Scorer. With 10 touchdowns, Rakoski is the leading scorer in Mercer County. In addition to his three passing scores from Hohman, he tallied seven times on runs. Included are efforts of 49, 47, 41, and 35 yards.

Other Spartan players to watch for are fullback Ralph Ridolfino, a fine ball carrier and blocker, and halfbacks Darreil Waytes and Pat Stein. Waytes has been on the receiving end of three Hohman scoring passes.

This has been a season of glory for these boys and their coach, Pete Brescia. Until this year, Steinert had never won more than four; now it is sputtering 6-0 with three more to go.

Steinert's delerious partisans chanted "We're Number One" after their team annihilated Trenton. Said Brescia: "I'm elated. I think we can go all the way but we're concerned about Princeton. They're tough."

How does Dick Wood view the contest? "We'll be ready. Everybody is okay physically." He mentioned that ends Tom Wood and John Crenwelge, who had been hampered by injuries were ready to go.

"I think the pressure is on them — they're undefeated — more so than us," Wood added. "They'll feel it more so than we."

Conover The Difference? So evenly matched in offense and defense do the two squads appear on paper that the only difference may be in the toe of Princeton's Keith Conover. Whereas Hohman has demonstrated he is 50 to 75 percent accurate in conversions, Conover, given a good snapback, is almost perfect. Conover is also much more of a field goal threat, and it appears that one or two points is all that will separate these two when the dust settles.

Asbury Is Easy. Asbury Park, in playing host to PHS Saturday, was more than gracious. Only once did it have the bad manners to cross Princeton's 50-yard line.

The Little Tigers were less tactful. In the opening quarter, Tom Yoder hit end Jay Springer with a 59-yard scoring aerial and Conover converted the first of five. Defensive end Nick Ryan accounted for two more when he tackled an Asbury ball carrier in the end zone. The play was set up by a fine 46-yard punt by Matt Alexander.

After a scoreless second quarter, PHS broke the game open with three quick scores in the third. Yoder plunged for one, and fullback Ken Grob accounted for the next two. Grob also tallied once in the final stanza. All of his runs were eight yards or under. He netted 67 yards in 20 carries.

Princeton's scoring drives were set up by pass interceptions by Jeff Bullock and John Madden, a recovered fumble by Rick Sisco and a short Asbury punt.

"Defensively, we look good the entire game," Wood observed. "In the second half, our blocking and ball carrying improved."

PDS VS. HUN FRIDAY

In Battle of Unbeaten. Football buffs who enjoy watching the game on any level have a treat in store for them. At no charge, they can watch two unbeaten squads clash headon Friday at 3:15 when Princeton Day School will tangle with the Hun School jayvees at the Edgerstoune field.

"We know they are ready," said PDS Coach Don Barren. "If both schools are up, this could be quite a game."

For Barren, the contest will be part reunion. He was the line coach at Hun for two years under Hawley Waterman and during that span, coached three of the Savidge boys — all products of Hun. Two of the three, David and Peter, are now coaching the Hun jayvees. David is a student attending PULLS TD HAT TRICK: Fullback Ken Grob scored the last three of Princeton High's five touchdowns against Asbury Park, increasing his total to seven and tying him with Jeff Bullock for high scoring honors.

the Theological Seminary and Peter is a teacher and coach at Hun. "I'm sure the boys will be out to teach their old coach a lesson," commended Barren. He added that Hun was big physically and the fact that both squads were undefeated made the game a "natural."

Prelude to 1967. In a sense, this first meeting is just a prelude of what will most certainly develop into a heated crosstown rivalry. Next year, when it will compete on a varsity level for the first time, PDS will open its season with Hun on September 30. In the following years, PDS will continue to open against Hun, according to Barren.

Princeton Day prepared for its big meeting with Hun by blanking Pingry at Elizabeth last week, 18-0. It was the Blue and White's third shutout in four starts. "We felt good about winning," Barren said, "because Pingry was the toughest team we've faced so far. No question about it."

The visitors dominated the game, scoring in each of the first three quarters. It was on Pingry's 10-yard stripe, knocking again, when the game ended.

Halfback Craig Page scored first for PDS on a five-yard run, while co-captain and quarterback Bill Rigot produced the next two on runs of four and one yards. Rigot also completed four of five passes for 48 yards, all of which came in critical situations to preserve PDS drives.

On defense, ends Frank Andrews and Lou Bowers of Princeton were standouts, combining for 13 tackles. Several times, these two threw the Pingry quarterback for big losses. In all, PDS was forced to give up the ball only twice all afternoon, one on a fumble and once in a punting situation.

Princeton Day's perfect string actually dates back to mid-season 1965, when it won its last four in a row for a present log of 8-0. During this string, it has limited its opponents to 24 points while scoring 174.

MATTHEWS LEADS LEAGUE

After Second Victory, Matthews Construction Company assumed the lead in the Midget Football League as it overpowered the University Store, 13-0, Sunday on the high school field. In the second game of the double-header, Nassau-Conover Motors downed Princeton Fuel Oil, 14-6.

Jack Petrone ran for a touchdown, and Jerry Fasanella carried the ball for a touchdown and an extra point to account for the Matthews score. Petrone also led the Matthews aerial attack, passing to Bill Schilling for gains of 25 and 24 yards.

The University Store failed to tally, despite the efforts of Joe McGuinn who carried the ball for 95 yards and completed four passes to Joe Moffo.

Tony Bally and Jim Petrone each scored touchdowns for Nassau Conover, and Baily ran across the two extra points. Kevin Tyrius led the attack with a 28 yard run. The lone Princeton Fuel touchdown was made by Dane Black.

In next Sunday's double-header, Nassau Conover will play the University Store in the first game at 1, and Princeton Fuel Oil will challenge unbeaten Matthews in the second contest. After the first two games, the league standings are:

	W.	L.
Matthews	2	0
Nassau Conover	1	0
Princeton Fuel	1	1
University Store	0	2

day when it travels to Elizabeth to battle with Pingry. Pingry is presently 4-1, while Hun, which has been unable to right its sputtering offense, is winless in five starts.

"I'm trying to cook up something for Pingry," said Coach Hawley Waterman. "Some kind of impenetrable defense. Pingry is a solid team; they do everything well."

In five contests this year, Hun has scored six touchdowns and has been able to convert the extra point only once. This weakness came home to roost again on Friday when Hun dropped its second 7-6 decision of the season, this time to Friends Central of Philadelphia.

Fullback Dave Liederman was both hero and goat for Hun. He crashed over from the three in the first period for Hun's only score but his try for the extra point was wide.

Hun dominated the remainder of the first half but "we just couldn't score," commented Waterman. The visitors combined a punt return of 40 yards and two Hun penalties to carry them to their only tally in the third period, after which they successfully ran the all-important PAT.

Reselling the contest, Waterman said, "It's funny. Friends Central had a total of 50 yards in the entire game, 30 rushing and 20 passing. In the first half, they had a total of four yards rushing and no yards passing — and yet we only got one touchdown out it.

KEISER TAKES TROPHY
In Jefferson Race, Art Keiser and his crew, Willy Langaswische won the silver trophy in the Walt Jefferson Memorial handicap sailing competition held Sunday on Lake Carnegie.

Although he placed only once in the Penguin series, Keiser's overall performance reflected the greatest improvement over his last year's showing. Dexter Miller and his son, Tim, earned the highest uncorrected time of the day and took second place in the handicap standings.

The final standings: Keiser, 1.318; Miller, 1.203; Phil Holt, 982; John Reeder, 835; and Tom Lawson, .833. John Hopfield, Larry Raffaelli, and Reeder Brooker also participated in the race, but were not included in the handicap competition.

Jerry Lawson, with his wife, Nancy, as crew, took top honors in the 14-foot sloop race, with 22.8 points. Other skippers were Pete Mory, 18.5; Walt Gibson, 15.5; Tom Huntington, 11.3; and George Cody, 10.3.

BOWLING NOTES

Guido Zinetti Rolls 680. A 181 first game prevented Guido Zinetti from reaching a 700 series last week in the Three-Man Classic League. Guido followed his first game with a 242 and 257 for a 680. Bill Covell sandwiched a subpar 148 with games of 203 and 246 for a 597.

High single games were Tony Tomarchio's 234 and Fred Procaccini's 223. Mike Basile had 222 and George Pierro and Dick Fowler each 220. Flavio Buono had 219.

Decker's Dairy moved into a second place tie with Procaccini Construction. Each has 12 wins. Farr Hardware still leads with 14, while Colonial Restaurant failed to win and dropped to third place, three wins off the pace.

Only four points separate the top five teams in the Nassau League, where Tiger Garage has a two-point edge over First Aid, Reformers and Cifelli Electric, the latter trio all at 28. Princeton Aviation (26) is third.

Individual scoring dipped somewhat as the top game was a 205 by John Baldino. Mike Pinelli had a 204 and Clarence Schlapfer a 203. Vince Tufano and Don Hanley just missed the 200 level with 199s.

In the Tri-County Firemen's League, Princeton No. 1 saw its lead sliced to two points, 32-30, over Lawrenceville. Three teams—Mercer No. 3, K.F.D. and Princeton Junction—are tied for third with 26 points each, while three more are bunched at 24.

Hottest fireman was Les Luck, who rolled 187-180-235 for a 602 series. Harry Warshefski had a pair of fine games—207-206. High singles: Don Matthew, 231; Mike Kapliner, 226; Paul Teresky, 217, and Al Krep, 211. Bob Richardson fashioned a 193-221.

Twelve rolled 200 or better in the B League, led by Rich Pinelli's 235 and Frank Delnese's 233. Following were Don Snyder, 229; Bill Murphy, 221; Hal Frazee, 213; Jim Kahney, 212; and Al Hibbard, 204.

In the league standings, the deadlock between Leo's Gulf and Ivy Inn for the top spot remained unbroken. Each has 30 points. Princeton Inn (28) and Nassau Del (26) trail. Four are tied with 24.

Iren's Day Nursery continues to pull away in the Business Women's League. With 44 points, it is 12 in front of MacKenzie Realty and Jefferson Plumbing, which are tied for second.

Irene Boesnfuso worked the pins for a fine 184 game, 35 pins over her average. Lillian Barnett claimed the top score, a 190, to which she added a 108.

Others: Mells Cruser, 181-162; Beverly Kiss, 180; Barbara Gilliland, 172-163, Julia Ball, 168; Helen Tamasi, 167; and Gloria Griffith, 166. Jane Perone, Betsy Danner, Louise Fugill and Casey Buckelew all converted splits.

Rulon-Miller to Coach

Harry Rulon-Miller, who learned his hockey at Princeton Country Day School, has been named coach of that sport at the Princeton Day School — the merged successor to his alma mater.

A life-long Princetonian, Rulon-Miller prepared for Princeton at St. Paul's School, captaining the 1857-58 Tigers. He was an All-Ivy selection as a forward.

PDS will play a 12-game schedule on its new rink, opening January 7. The rink was planned to be finished December 1, but construction is currently running somewhat behind the timetable set for it.

CHAMPION RETIRES: Mrs. James Whelan (right) accepts trophy as women's champion at Springdale Golf Club from Mrs. Karl Pettit Jr., chairman of Prize Committee. Mrs. Whelan, 13-time winner of the title since 1951, has announced her decision not to defend her title again.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Arehimedes (Bernard)
The Maintenance and Care Of The Hair

Like a healthy complexion, a healthy and abundant scalp of hair is frequently an inheritance. The skin, however, is more readily visible to its wearer, who more easily recognizes changes in its condition or appearance, however slight, than in that of the hair. The exposed areas of the skin is usually are washed at least twice daily, and most women will often additionally nurture theirs with balms and unguents.

The hair, as an appendage of the skin also must be given regular scrupulous care to a far greater extent than some often washed areas of the skin; the hair is exposed to dust, noxious fumes and vapors.

I find that many women don't like to shampoo their hair too often for fear of losing the natural oils in their hair. Women can and have done more harm to the hair by undue washing their hair than by cleaning it whenever necessary. There are proper precautions that give nourishment to the hair and scalp.

Women very seldom neglect their skin — they pamper it with creams and lotions — this must also be done to the hair and scalp if you are to have a healthy head of hair. Hair clearliness, hygiene and hair conditioning, words which suggest nothing exciting, have been hurled at us so continuously during our lifetime that they have come to lose the impact they should have. Yet, I know of nothing so beneficial to the health of one's hair as the patient and unrelenting practice of hair conditioning for the basic, regular procedure and the maintenance of good healthy hair. News Of The CHURCHES

"WE DON'T TRUST THEM"
"They Don't Trust Us." In this midst of Princeton's bafflement over its restless teenagers, three clergymen spoke out strongly from the pulpit on Sunday.

"The biggest danger in the present situation is that on a large scale, and in many ways, adults and teenagers just don't trust each other," the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr., rector of Trinity Episcopal Parish, told his congregation. "The responsibility is it to work away, in any and all of the means available, at the task of reducing mistrust and fear?"

The Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel said at First Presbyterian Church "These past weeks have been weeks of mounting tension in our town, especially among the young people. By a series of most unfortunate circumstances, the lines have been driven harder and harder at the teenage level between University students and townies, between black and white, rich and poor, one section of the community and the rest of the community, Princeton and Trenton, and on and on.

"Where does the church belong in all of it? Right in the middle — reconciling — pleading for sanity — getting at the root causes — helping to come up with some answers — taking the risks that go with standing in the no-mans' land between hostile forces and taking sides when taking sides is indicated."

At inter-racial Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Harold Thomas said in his sermon, "We have problems in our community which seem to defy sociological and psychological analysis . . . The question that I have about this is — what has the church to say to this problem that any other organization doesn't have? What can we hope to do that other organizations are not doing?"

What Will He Say? A teenage girl seated in a Trinity pew next to her mother on Sunday flinched noticeably when Dr. Spears first mentioned "teenagers." She relaxed as he stated the stand for both sides:

"Teenagers don't like service about smoking and drinking from adults who are quite obviously hooked on alcohol and nicotine. Teenagers don't trust admonitions about honesty from ticket-fixers, tax cheats, influence seekers and liars. . .

"Adults don't trust teenagers to have any sense at all if they wear long hair and funny-looking boots . . . because they sing mournful songs or like noisy music in crowded rooms. Adults don't trust the herd instinct which runs so strongly in teenagers, and they certainly don't trust teenagers in groups anywhere.

"Adults think teenagers know entirely too much about sex . . . and teenagers don't think adults know anything about sex at all — despite their very existence as the younger generation."

TEENAGERS OF ALL DENOMINATIONS sing along with the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr., (standing left) rector at Trinity Church, and guitarist John Saladino. Princeton University undergraduates, at a coffeehouse planning session held Friday at Trinity. Perry Morgan, chairman of the church's sub-committee on youth, stands beyond Dr. Spears. About 50 young people turned out for the casserole supper and meeting, sponsored by Youth Associates. (Ulli Steltzer Photo)

Fear and distrust, he said, are inseparable companions. "We're afraid of what they will do to our reputation, our expectations, our property, their lives.

"They are afraid of what we will do to their lives, their rights, their future, our world." About 50 young people turned out for the casserole supper and meeting, sponsored by Youth Associates, (Ulli Steltzer Photo)

Fear and distrust, he said, are inseparable companions. "We're afraid of what they will do to our reputation, our expectations, our property, their lives.

"They are afraid of what we will do to their lives, their rights, their future, our world."

He said, that adults are working to overcome the barriers between youth and adults, "but not enough. Those there are," he added, "should see their ministry as one which seeks to bind up wounds, moves men into honest communication, takes risks to reconcile and understand, and worries less about the cost than the good God calls all men to this task."

How To Survive

Cory S. Kammler

Statistics show that super-bright people are not the best drivers. Reports on wide scale studies at Iowa State University Driving Research Laboratory show that super-bright and less than bright drivers have more accidents than do those with average intelligence. The tests proved that people with 20% or more above the average IQ find that the handling of horsepower doesn't give their brain power enough of a work-out. They tend to become bored, restless and impatient behind the wheel. This leads them to be easily lulled to take chances, and apparently makes them a greater accident hazard. If you have been provided with an unusual quantity of brains, remember to use them behind the wheel. Our concern is for your welfare . . . may we serve you?

THREE FRESH POSSIBILITIES

A HOME FOR THE BRAVE: Transforming a barn into a house is not a job for the faint-hearted. But, if you're that one in a hundred who yearns for something a little adventuresome . . . somethieg with flair and originality, we have a challenge for you: it's big and sturdy, with high fieldstone foundations. It stands on the top of a ridge above Hopewell and has long bucolic vistas in every direction. It's owned by a clever young architect who lives in the nice old house next door and has all sorts of ideas about converting barns (in fact, he's just finished another right on the place which is now happily occupied by a fine Princeton family with lots of kids). He'll sell it to you, as is, on 2 acres for $8,000 or 4 acres for $10,000 and he delighted to handle the whole project for you or just do a little neighborly kibitzing on the side.

MADDENED BY THE MADDING CROWD? If you long to be away from it all, but not isolated from the conveniences of town, this second new listing of ours might make you very happy. Though not three minutes from Nassau Street, and in the heart of Princeton Township, this wee bit of a house is so secluded on its nearly 2 acres of maples and dogwoods and pines that you feel miles in the country. You literally can't see or hear a neighbor, though there are several near by. The house is small, just a living room with fireplace, kitchen, utility room, two bedrooms and bath, so if it doesn't fit you we have plans drawn up for expanding it most attractively. And the lot is incomparably lovely. $32,900

PRICED IN THE MID-THIRTIES AND OFFERED FOR THE FIRST TIME: This is one of those houses we've always liked, particularly for a young family, situated as it is, on a no-traffic Township street which abounds with children of all ages. The house has a large, airy entrance hall, step-down living room with fireplace, separate dining room, kitchen with eating space and adjoining playroom, laundry and lavatory. Upstairs, there are 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths. Big, rainy day cellar and two car garage. Lovely, spacious grounds with masses of native dogwood and many unusual trees and shrubs. $37,000
